

Organizations and individuals must continually improve their capability and skills. The use of third party advisory services can provide confidential assessment, independent inquiry, skill development or objective feedback.

CORPORATE UNIVERSITY RESEARCH (CUR) provides coaching and advisory services to companies in areas of talent development, corporate learning, business transformation and innovation. Advisory services can include:

- Serving as interim head of a corporate University or talent development;
- Providing individual, team or group-focused coaching solutions to key staff;
- Support for leadership transitions;
- Regular input and feedback on innovation practices;
- Conducting follow-up reviews of performance data;
- Providing feedback on organization change;
- Program audits to insure business practices are effectively anchored in the company culture.

Peter McAteer, CEO of Corporate University Research, currently serves as Principal Advisor on New Product Innovation at the Consensus Building Institute (CBI), Senior Advisor on Strategy and Innovation at Origin Learning and Senior Advisor on New Product Innovation at Movius Consulting.
